

Getting to the University

Car: From the south: Take the M1 to junction 33 (A630, signposted to City Centre), go about 5 miles to a very large roundabout with flyover above. Turn right and follow the signs for the university. From the north: Take M1 to J36, follow A61 into Sheffield. The University Roundabout is the BIG roundabout after you get into the centre of the city (junction with A57).

Bus: Take No. 60 from outside the train station (just to the right of the glass entrance way). You want to get off at the Glosop Road / University stop which is just after a large crossroads next to a tall grey building. It will cost you 95p

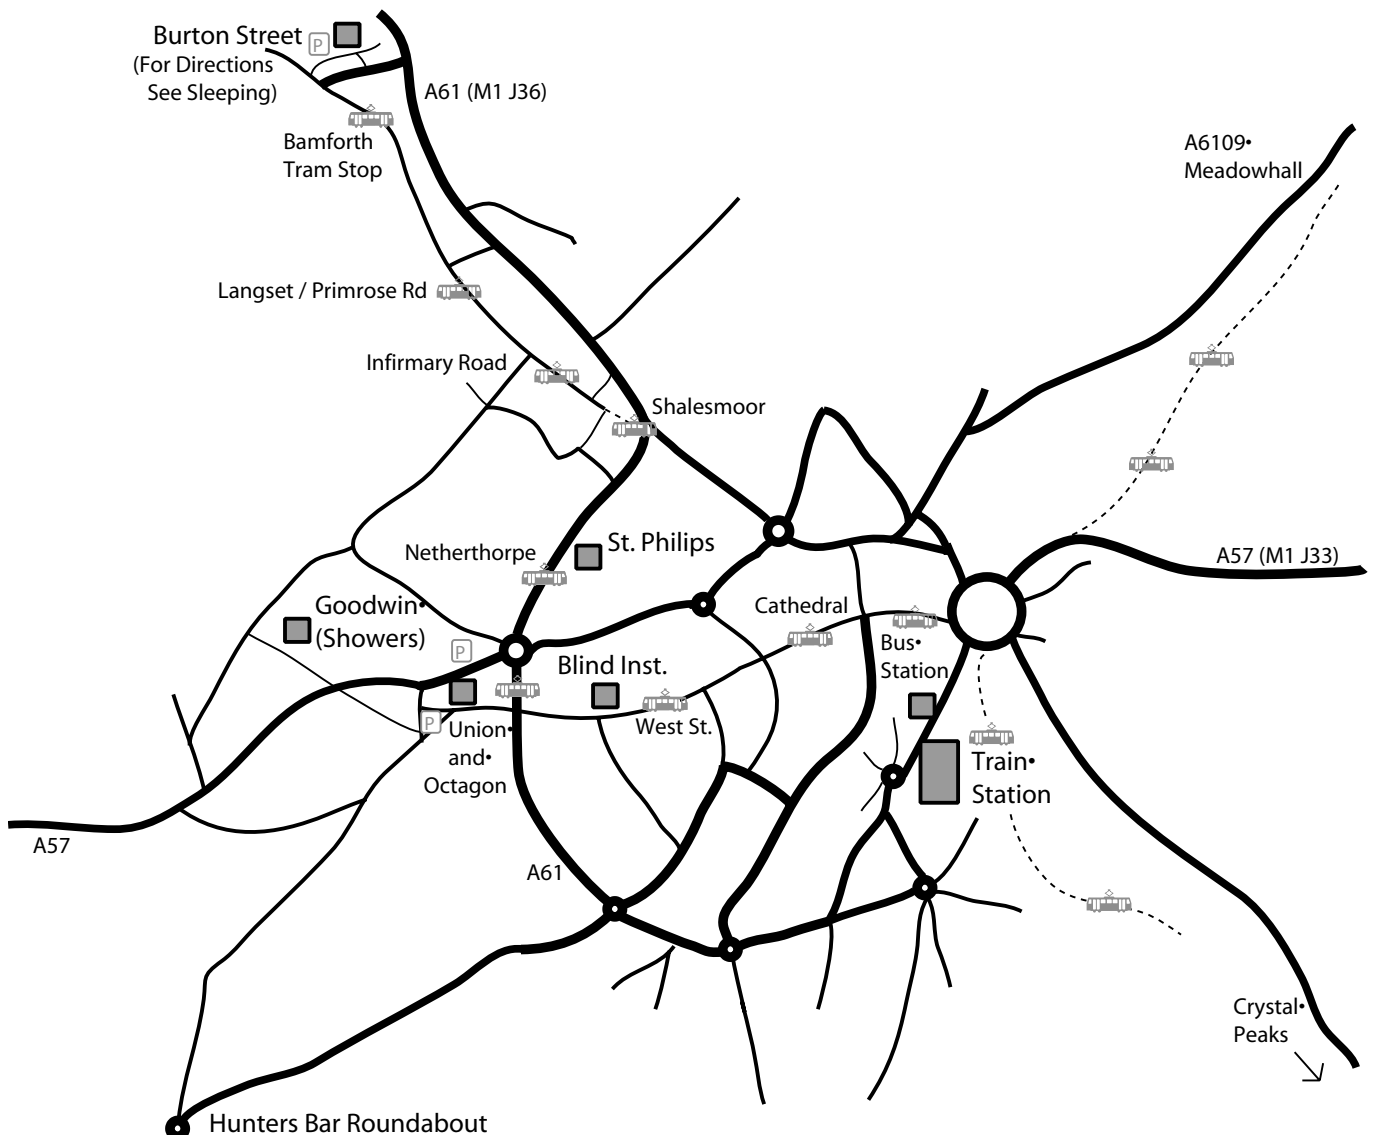

Tram: Take a Blue or Yellow tram in the direction of the University (labeled Middlewood Road or Malin Bridge), it will cost you between 80p and £1 depending where you get on.

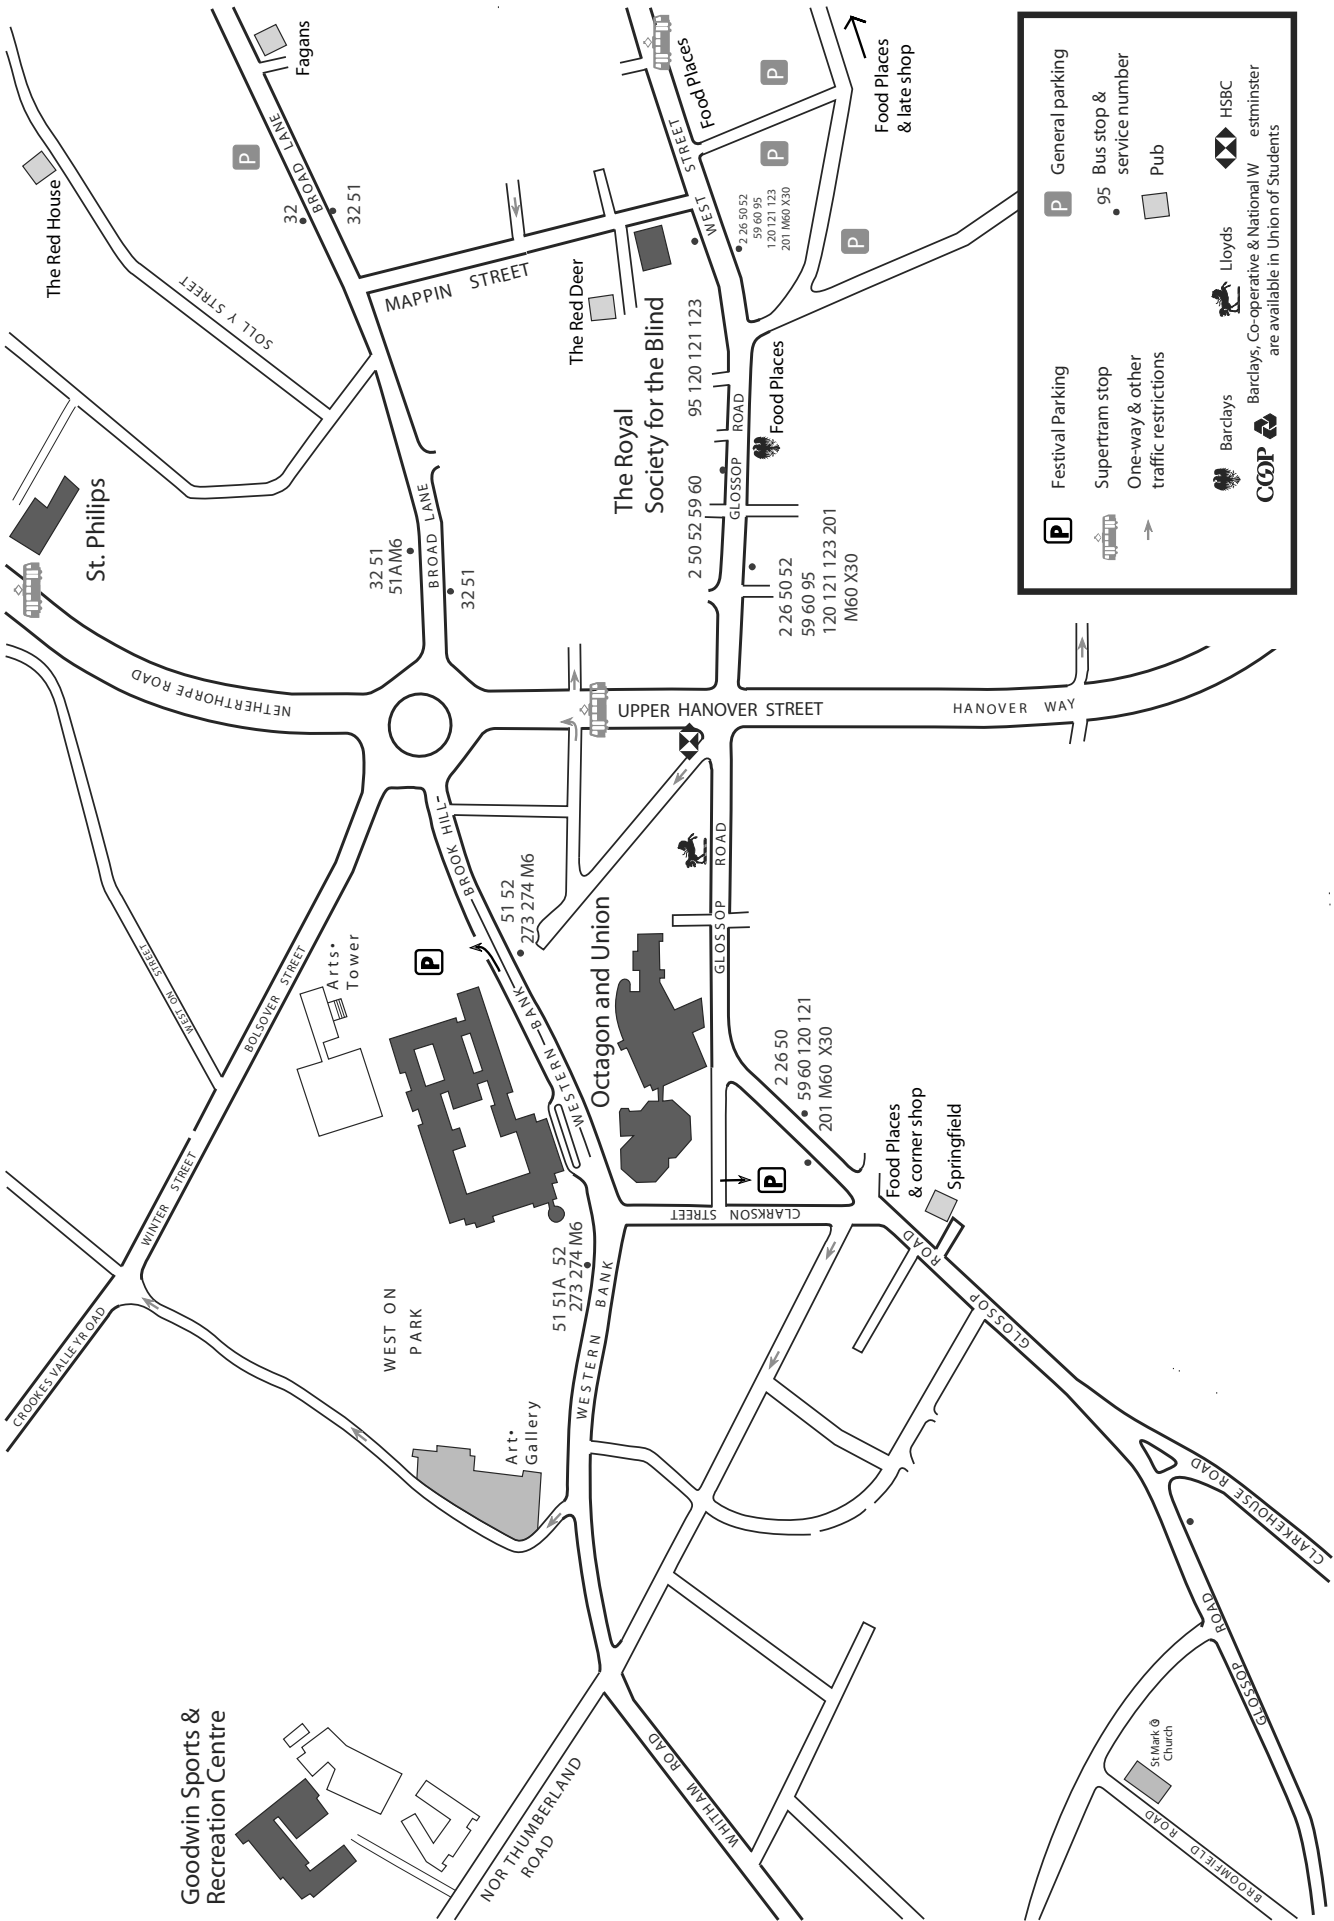

Getting to Burton Street (Sleeping Venue)

Car: From the university roundabout follow the A61 towards Hillsborough (away from the city centre). Keey an eye out for Mecca bingo on your left and take the next left after then turn right (almost instantly) onto a cobbles road. Burton Street is just in front of you and the entrance is on the left. From the other direction (From J36 on A61) you want the next right after passing the Morrisons / B&Q on your right, shortly after the signs for Hillsborough.

Bus: Take No. 57, 58, 61, 62, 65,66, 67 or 68 from the bus station and get off at Langsett Road (junction with Bamforth Street). Walk on toward Hillsborough, Burton Street is the second road on your right. We are the old school on the left.

Tram: Take a Blue or Yellow tram in the direction of the University (labeled Middlewood Road or Malin Bridge), carry on past the university, and on another 5 stops to Bamforth street stop. Burton Street is on your right 30 seconds walk in front of you (if that!)
